Interactive Timetable For Children With Autistic Spectrum Disorders

Volgograd State Technical University

Volgograd, Russia 2017

What is this?

 This is the application that we develop alongside with the rehabilitation center called «Nadezhda» for their children who have all sorts of autistic disorders.

• The app will help children to visualize their every day activities, to see it whenever they need and to intuitively interact with it.

 Meanwhile the app will help the staff of the center to store all the children related data they need: their names, their hospital trips, diagnostics, etc.

Application Features

The application will give us an ability to:

- store children profiles
- store children trips to the center
- store children diagnostics and it's progress
- construct every day timetables for children
- show multiple timetables for children
- interact with a timetable by marking activities as done/not done and reaching motivation goals

Technologies we use

 We use C# in combination with Xamarin to create a cross-platform business model that we can use for any platform such as Android, iOS, Windows and Mac.

ICOL:

 For now we're only implementing the UI for wide-screen Android devices using Xamarin.Android.

 For storing all the application data we use fast and light-weight SQLite database engine.
